

Did George Floyd have a criminal history?

George Floyd, 46, was born in Fayetteville, North Carolina, and grew up in Houston, Texas.

A father of two girls and a son, the six-foot-seven "gentle giant" had been a star football and basketball player in high school.

The Houston Chronicle reports that 13 years ago, Floyd was charged with aggravated robbery with a deadly weapon - citing Harris County Court records.

He moved from his hometown several years ago to embark on a fresh start in Minneapolis where he worked as a truck driver and bouncer, say family and friends.

What was he jailed for?

In 2009, Floyd served a five-year prison sentence as part of a plea deal on the 2007 charge of aggravated robbery with a deadly weapon, reports the Houston Chronicle.

One of his Houston pals, Ronnie Lillard, told the BBC that he became involved in his local ministry, Resurrection Houston, after being freed from jail.

Determined to change himself and help improve his neighbourhood, "Big Floyd" - as he was known - "embraced his own life change [and] he was looking around at his community," Lillard added.

Floyd's ex, Roxie Washington, told reporters: "People mistake him because he was so big that they thought he was always a fighting person, but he was a loving person."

What did the Minneapolis police union president say about George Floyd?

Minneapolis police union head Lt Bob Kroll ranted in a letter to cops that they were being made "scapegoats" during ongoing "terrorist movement" protests against Floyd's brutal death.

He said: "What is not being told is the violent criminal history of George Floyd. The media will not air this."

Making no reference to the way in which Floyd was pinned down until he was no longer conscious, Kroll whined about the response of Mayor Jacob Frey, Minnesota Governor Tim Walz and other leaders.

Slamming them as "despicable", he complained the officials had refused to "acknowledge the work of MPD," reports the Star-Tribune.

Kroll said: "I commend you for the excellent police work you are doing in keeping your co-workers and others safe during what everyone except us refuses to call a riot.

"You've turned the tide of the largest scale riot that Minneapolis has ever seen."

Why was he stopped by Minneapolis police on May 25?

On May 25, "someone called 911 and reported that a man bought merchandise from Cup Foods... in Minneapolis, Hennepin County, Minnesota with a counterfeit $20 bill", say prosecutors.

Their court report explains that, once at the scene, officers Thomas Lane and J.A. Kueng were told the customer was sitting in a car nearby.

Floyd was in the vehicle with another man and woman.

One cop "pulled his gun out and pointed it at Floyd's open window and directed Floyd to show his hands".

After ordering him to leave the car, the officer "pulled him out of the car" and Floyd "actively resisted" being handcuffed.

Once restrained, however, Floyd was "compliant".

Asking him if he was "on anything" the officer explained that he was arresting him for "passing counterfeit currency", the report adds.

But, on the way to the cops' car, Floyd panicked, and said that he suffered from "claustrophobia".

"Officers Derek Chauvin and Tou Thoa then arrived in a separate squad car

President of Minneapolis Police Officers Federation Bob Kroll says that people should remember George Floyd's "violent criminal history", including a home invasion that involved pointing a gun at a pregnant woman which resulted in five-year prison sentence. Kroll called protests over Floyd's death the work of a terrorist movement.

“What is not being told is the violent criminal history of George Floyd. The media will not air this,” Kroll wrote in a letter addressed to his members that was published on Twitter on Monday.

— Libor Jany (@StribJany) June 1, 2020

George Floyd was sentenced to five years in prison in 2009 for an assault and robbery committed two years earlier. He was convicted after pleading guilty to entering a pregnant woman's home and jabbing a gun in her stomach while searching for money and drugs, according to court documents.

According to the court report, the pregnant victim said the largest member of the group, who she identified as Floyd, "forced his way inside the residence, placed a pistol against the complainant's abdomen, and forced her into the living room area of the residence."

"This large suspect then proceeded to search the residence while another armed suspect guarded the complainant, who was struck in the head and sides by this second armed suspect with his pistol while she screamed for help."

Floyd, who was accompanied by five other men, never found any money or drugs, but took jewelry and the victim's cell phone. A neighbor who observed the robbery occur wrote down the license plate number of the perpetrators.

Even before that, he had been convicted of a range of charges from armed robbery to drug possession, the Daily Mail reported.

"This terrorist movement that is currently occurring was a long time build up which dates back years," Kroll said in his letter.

According to him, some of the city's issues exist because Minneapolis leaders "have been minimizing the size of our police force and diverting funds to community activists with an anti-police agenda."

"Our chief requested 400 more officers and was flatly denied. This is what led to this record-breaking riot," he added.

"I've worked with the four defense attorneys that are representing each of our four terminated individuals under criminal investigation, in addition with our labor attorneys to fight for their jobs. They were terminated without due process," Kroll wrote.

In his letter, he also explained why the police department was not more vocal in the press. According to him, it would have a negative impact on the work and safety of police officers.

"I've been a visible target from the groups conducting this riot, politicians on the left allowing it and encouraging it, and liberal media. My visibility during this time would only increase your danger. I've received countless death threats throughout this."

"We see the heroic work being done. We acknowledge it and commend you for it," he said, telling his co-workers to stay safe.

Many have pointed to the massive loss in black lives directly due to riots and looting and have asked why David Dorn, the elderly black man and retired St. Louis police captain who was shot and killed on video while protecting his friend's pawn shop during the riots, has not received nearly the same media attention and support from the Black Lives Matter movement.

Other black males, such as 53-year-old Federal Protective Services officer Dave Patrick Underwood, a federal law enforcement officer who was shot and killed while on duty during riots last Friday in Oakland, have also received little attention in comparison to Floyd.

Floyd's death last week sparked widespread violent protests across the United States, from New York City to Los Angeles. He died of asphyxiation after a policeman knelt on him for nearly nine minutes, which was caught on video.

Floyd had at least five stints in jail. In one of the charging documents, officials noted Floyd had two convictions in the 1990s for theft and delivery of a controlled substance, but it is not clear if Floyd served any time for either of those offenses

The final straw for Floyd came after serving five years in prison in 2009 for aggravated assault stemming from a robbery in 2007 where he entered a woman's home, pressed a gun into her stomach and searched the home for drugs and money, according to court records.

Floyd pleaded guilty to the robbery where another suspect posed as a worker for the local water department, wearing a blue uniform in an attempt to gain access to the woman's home, according to the charging document.

But when the woman opened the door, she realized he was not with the water department and attempted to close the door, leading to a struggle.

At that time, a Ford Explorer pulled up to the home and five other males exited the car and went up to the front door.

The report states the largest of the group, who the victim later identified as Floyd, 'forced his way inside the residence, placed a pistol against the complainant's abdomen, and forced her into the living room area of the residence.

‘This large suspect then proceeded to search the residence while another armed suspect guarded the complainant, who was struck in the head and sides by this second armed suspect with his pistol while she screamed for help.’

Not finding any drugs or money at the house, the men took jewelry and the woman’s cell phone and fled in their car. A neighbor who witnessed the robbery took down the car’s license plate number.

Later, police tracked down the car and found Floyd behind the wheel. He was later identified by the woman as the large suspect who placed a gun against her stomach and forced her into her living room, the document states.

IN THE NAME AND BY AUTHORITY OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Before me, the undersigned Assistant District Attorney of Harris County, Texas, this day appeared the undersigned affiant, who under oath says that he has good reason to believe and does believe that in Harris County, Texas, GEORGE FLOYD hereafter styled the Defendant, heretofore on or about AUGUST 9, 2007, did then and there unlawfully while in the course of committing theft of property owned by ARACELY HENRIQUEZ and with intent to obtain and maintain control of the property, intentionally and knowingly threaten and place ARACELY HENRIQUEZ in fear of imminent bodily injury and death, and the Defendant did then and there use and exhibit a deadly weapon, to-wit: A FIREARM.

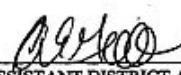

PROBABLE CAUSE

Affiant J. Tapia is a certified peace officer with the Houston Police Department assigned to the Robbery Division. Affiant believes and has reason to believe that the Defendant, George Floyd, committed the felony offense of Aggravated Robbery with a Deadly Weapon on or about August 9, 2007 in Harris County, Texas. Affiant bases his belief on the following facts: Affiant was assigned the follow-up investigation of a robbery that occurred on August 9, 2007 at 8710 Glenhouse Court, Houston, Harris County, Texas. Affiant reviewed Houston Police Department offense report # 117571507-C, which was written by certified peace officer D.A. Richardson, who is also employed by the Houston Police Department. Affiant met with Aracely Henriquez, Complainant #1, and Angel Negrete, Complainant #2, who are both credible and reliable persons, who advised him that on August 9, 2007, they, along with Amanda Negrete (1 yoa), were all inside their residence at 8710 Glenhouse Court when they heard a knock on the front door. As Complainant Henriquez looked out the front window, she observed a black male dressed in a blue uniform who told her that he was with the water department. As Complainant Henriquez opened the door, she immediately realized that this person was not with the water department and attempted to close the door. However, this male held the door open and prevented her from doing so. At this time, a black Ford Explorer pulled up in front of the Complainants' residence and five other black males exited this vehicle and proceeded to the front door. The largest of these suspects forced his way into the residence, placed a pistol against the complainant's abdomen, and forced her into the living room area of the residence. This large suspect then proceeded to search the residence while another armed suspect guarded the complainant, who was struck in the head and side areas by this second armed suspect with his pistol after she screamed for help. As the suspects looked through the residence, they demanded to know where the drugs and money were and Complainant Henriquez advised them that there were no such things in the residence. The suspects then took some jewelry along with the complainant's cell phone before they fled the scene in the black Ford Explorer, whose license plate was written down by a neighbor who witnessed the suspects exiting the vehicle and entering the complainants' residence. (Note: One of the suspects, (specifically the second armed suspect who was left guarding Complainant Henriquez), was inadvertently left behind inside the complainants' residence by the other suspects after he decided to leave her and search one of the rooms but managed to flee the scene on foot.) Affiant conducted follow-up investigation in this case and, after being unable to make contact with the registered owner of the suspects' vehicle, Affiant flagged this vehicle as wanted for this incident. On 11-15-07, officers with the Houston Police Department Narcotics Division came across this vehicle during one of their respective investigations and identified the following subjects as occupants of this vehicle at the time of their investigation: George Floyd, (Driver), Kornelious Barlow, (Front Passenger). Upon learning of this development, Affiant obtained booking photos of both subjects and had these photos placed in two separate arrays. Affiant presented these arrays to Complainants Henriquez and Negrete and Complainant Henriquez tentatively identified Defendant George Floyd as being the largest of the suspects who initially forced his way into her home, pulled the pistol into her abdominal area, and forced her into the living room area. Complainant Negrete positively identified Defendant Floyd as being one of the suspects whom he remembered seeing going through the cabinets in the kitchen.

Floyd served 10 months at Harris County jail for a theft offense

V2665 P0301

Floyd pleaded guilty to the first degree felony and was sentenced in April 2009 to five years in prison.

Prior to that, Floyd was sentenced to 10 months in state jail for possession of cocaine. He had been charged in December 2005 for having less than one gram of the controlled substance.

However, a few months later the charge was updated to possession with intent to deliver a controlled substance, amending the amount Floyd allegedly had to more than four grams of cocaine.

But according to court records, Floyd was able to have the charge reverted back to possession of cocaine less than a gram.

Floyd had two other cocaine offenses, receiving an eight month-sentence stemming from an October 2002 arrest and was sentenced to 10 months from a 2004 arrest.

Floyd was arrested in April 2002 for criminal trespassing and was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

He did another stint for theft with a firearm in August 1998. He served 10 months at Harris County jail.

In one of the charging documents, officials noted Floyd had two convictions in the 1990s for theft and delivery of a controlled substance, but it is not clear if Floyd served any time for either of those offenses.
