

Trapped in a Web of Lies

By Cory Bernardi • 20 Nov 2023

I'm on the road this morning, so thought I'd share my opening editorial from last night's Bernardi show on Sky News

One of the themes I often return to is that you cannot trust what politicians or the media tell you.

I have a simple reason for being suspicious of them.

It's because they lie.

They lie, not once or twice, but again and again and again.

And every deliberately misspoken word comes at your expense. The lies are designed to entrench power in the elites while diminishing yours.

But there are signs that people are waking up to the poison peddled by those in public life.

The purpose of this propaganda is to divide us and to weaken us. They want us to think we are bad people and that our neighbours are bad people too.

They want us to think that people with white skin are bad unless their skin colour isn't reflective of their chosen ethnicity. Then they are good.

They are trying to convince us that men can have babies and women can have a penis.

We're being bludgeoned into the belief that the earth is about to melt thanks to 'climate change'.

To borrow one of their slogans - 'always was, always will be'.

Of course, that slogan relates to the mooted primacy of so-called Aboriginal nations on whose land we apparently occupy.

It's funny how those who chant it so often don't seem to want to work to earn money to buy their own land, or if they do have some fee simple title, they don't want to give it back to the people they say rightfully owns it.

And what about the other grave injustices in the world?

Do you remember the Ukraine war? And yes, it's still going despite the absence of flag emojis on social media.

In fact, according to the shills, Ukraine is still on the cusp of winning - just as they have been for 18 months.

Sorry to break it to you, but that's not true.

Ukraine has sacrificed hundreds of thousands of men for no gain - all because the global powers wouldn't allow a peaceful settlement or de-escalation strategy.

You see, the Ukraine war was a great distraction and created a common enemy. They are both essential components of propaganda.

Unfortunately, this propaganda came with a hefty price, but at least the US arms manufacturers made a lot of money.

I suspect more than a few US and Ukrainian politicians also made a lot of money.

We are fortunate that Australia sent less than a billion dollars into the black hole of corruption known as Ukraine.

That's money that could have been used to repay our trillion-dollar debt, but our leaders feel it's better spent fostering futile foreign wars.

It's also incredible how many of our own politicians and media elites have been regurgitating the propaganda surrounding the so-called 'January 6 insurrection' in the United States.

Almost all the video footage from the Capitol building has now been sanctioned for release, and it shows categorically that what we were told was a danger to democracy was a very long way from the truth.

It's clear that politicians, police officers and the media lied.

They covered up the truth for primarily political purposes.

And while those arrested for entering the Capitol building are receiving heavy prison sentences, there are question marks over the involvement of federal agencies in actually sparking the protest.

Again, it's part of a plan to divide, not only the United States, but all of us.,

Incredibly, it's working. Everyone is picking a side in geopolitics.

Trump bad, Biden good. That's the current narrative pushed by the elites.

Trump will always be wrong in their eyes, but at some stage, they'll turn on Biden to stop him from running for another term because even a puppet needs to have some wits about him.

The partisan cheerleaders will turn on Biden just like the mindless masses have turned on Israel. The rent-a-crowd protest movement has made a new market for Palestinian flags they wave while chanting genocidal slogans about the Jews.

Unsurprisingly, the moves to suppress the response of the Jewish state to the heinous acts of terrorism by the elected government of Gaza, are being led by the anti-semitic tribe at the United Nations.

These are the same globalists who want to control the world through an unelected supra-notional governance.

We saw their goals in action during COVID. Global authority was invested in the World Health Organisation and their chosen vassal, Dr Anthony Fauci, to determine the 'science' other countries must follow.

And follow they did. Mask mandates, 'safe and effective' vaccines, social distancing, curfews, travel restrictions and forced detention were all part of the science.

Slogan after slogan was repeated by politicians, bureaucrats and the media talking heads.

If there was any dissent, you were cancelled or cast as a crank.

But the so-called cranks were right.

The authorities lied to us. The evidence for that is clear. If you wanted to see it, it was clear then but is almost undeniable now.

It wasn't about science; it was all about control.

Now, they are entering a new phase. In many respects, it's a more dangerous and desperate one because the system they have built is much closer to collapse.

The level of distrust in our institutions is almost unprecedented.

The people are waking up to the fact that the system is being rigged against them, and they're starting to question why.

Why are we planning to import millions more people if housing is in short supply?

Why are our electricity bills unaffordable if renewable energy is so cheap? Why is less than half the population expected to pay any net tax? Why is the government intent on dividing us by race? How will we ever repay the national debt?

I could go on. There are so many questions and very few answers forthcoming.

There are no answers because those in charge don't want us to know just how perilous things are becoming - for them and their hold over us.

The system is on the verge of a breaking down, and the last desperate roll of the dice is for the elites to have you dumbed down and distracted.

We can't afford that. It's up to every single one of us to hold those in power or with a public voice to account. It's no longer about your tribe or your political team.

It's now about our future.

The primary goal for all of us must be to reclaim our self-reliance, autonomy and freedom.
